Gala Fundraising Event
For the Day Scholars, daytime Residential School Survivors

SAVE THE DATE: Friday, April 15, 2016
WHERE: Chief Joe Mathias Centre
ADDRESS: 100 Capilano Road, North Vancouver
WHEN: 5:30 - Midnight

Your attendance is requested!

The Tk'emlúps te Secwepemc and the shíshálh Nation request your attendance at a once in a lifetime gala evening called 'Spirit Rising'. Spirit Rising Gala aspires to raise funds for the pursuit of justice for the Day Scholars, survivors of the residential school regime.

After years in court, these two Nations have been granted class action certification to pursue compensation for the Day Scholar children that attended Residential Schools during the day. These survivors suffered the same abuses and torture as full-time students. Unlike those students they have not been recognized nor compensated by the Government of Canada.

Join us to make history. To date, 94 First Nations have joined this historic class action suit. Come be on the side of transformative justice.

Please RSVP as soon as possible!

The Spirit Rising Gala fundraiser will include a live concert featuring the Juno Award winning band Bitterly Divine, cultural performances and a silent auction. We hope you are able to come support these First Nations to continue their journey to gain recognition and compensation for these Day Scholars.

The event will be hosted by the Skwxwú7mesh (Squamish) Nation at the Chief Joe Mathias Centre in North Vancouver.
